ENGINEMEN KILLED IN VINITA WRECK

3 Known Dead in State Storms

PROPERTY LOSS MAY RUN TO $250,000 AS RESULT OF SUNDAY NIGHT GALES

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 22.—Three known dead, together with several injured, and much property damage, is the toll of last night's storm which visited nearly every part of the state. Houses and garages were wrecked, basements were flooded and electric light and power service in numerous towns was disrupted.

The dead: Mrs. Marvin Kilman, of Oklahoma City, killed at Shawnee when the building in which she had taken refuge collapsed in a high wind. Her young son and Willis Bennett were injured.

Some damage to wheat and truck crops was reported and also several sections of the state are isolated by paralyzed wire communications and it has been impossible to estimate the total damage from the incomplete reports so far received.

Shawnee Hard Hit. Shawnee appeared to have suffered greatest damage from storm. One 4-story building was demolished, several garages and out houses were wrecked, and plate glass fronts blown from store windows in the business section. The town still is without lights and power. Property damage is estimated at $250,000.

At Oklahoma City, hail the size of half dollars fell intermittently during the deluge which continued several hours, flooding the streets in the downtown section until they resembled miniature rivers and causing the North Canadian river to rise several inches in a few minutes.

No one was injured seriously although several residences and out buildings in the northwest portion of the city were damaged. Injury to property will amount to approximately $50,000 police said today. A garage was picked up and hurled against the upper story of a residence and a maid narrowly escaped death in the crash. The wall of her room was caved in and flying pieces of furniture smashed the bed on which she was lying.

Another house was unroofed. Considerable damage was done to electric light, telegraph and inter-urban railway lines.

Tulsa and Muskogee reported slight injury to property and utility service. Southwest of Muskogee, wind and hail damaged some wheat and strawberry crops.

Masonic Temple Damaged. MUSKOGEE, May 22.—Immense damage was done by a tornado to property in Guthrie at 8 o'clock last night, according to a telegram to Mrs. Will Brooks, over a railroad wire at 2 o'clock this morning from her father, Adam Traband, Guthrie cigar manufacturer. The Masonic Temple, now under construction, and many other houses were badly damaged. The message did not state whether or not any casualties occurred.

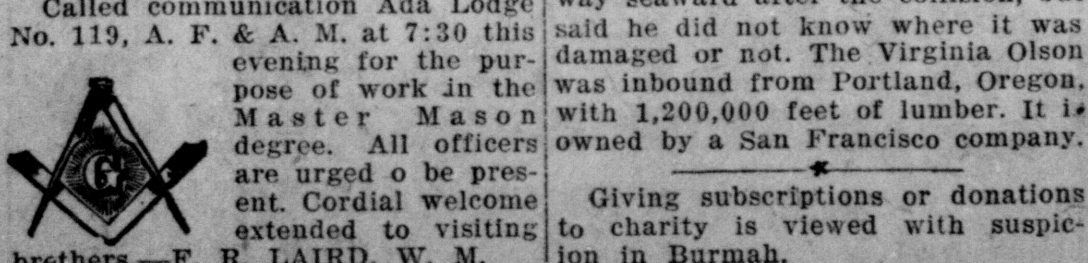

Derricks Blown Down. OKMUGEE, May 22.—Roads were flooded and trees were blown down in a storm Sunday night which swept over Okmulgee county. A number of derricks in the oil fields were reported to have fallen during the storm which was accompanied by a high wind.

BURCH JURY DISMISSED WHEN IT CANNOT AGREE (By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—The jury in the trial of Arthur C. Burch for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy was dismissed by Judge Sidney N. Reeve today after reporting it was impossible to agree upon a verdict. Jurors said that the final ballot was 7 to 5 for acquittal. This division was unchanged since Saturday when the first ballot of 6 to 6 was changed by one more juror favoring acquittal.

The four women on the jury voted for acquittal. The case was placed on the calendar for next Saturday to be set for the third trial.

J. C. Hill, 93, Oldest Man in Pontotoc County

Probably the oldest man living in Pontotoc county is J. C. Hill, grandfather of J. W. Balthrop and Mrs. H. R. Whitson. He was born in 1829 and is therefore 93 years of age. He is active for a man of his age and still takes a keen interest in events of the day. He lives with his grandson two miles north of Ada.

Pontotoc county's patriarch was born in Tennessee but in 1849 he and his young bride started for Texas in a wagon. They never crossed a railroad on this long drive. Arriving in Texas they settled in Hunt county near the present site of Wolf City. After a residence of 32 years there they moved to Wise county, but Hill has spent most of the past 20 or 25 years in Oklahoma. His wife and three daughters died a number of years ago. He has 110 living descendants.

When the Civil war broke out Hill enlisted in the 32nd Texas cavalry. He was captured at Corinth, Mississippi, and sent to the prison at Camp Douglas, Illinois, near Chicago. For two years he underwent the hardships suffered by Confederate prisoners in northern prisons and was not released until July, 1865.

A Pioneer Farmer. During his active years he engaged in farming and cattle raising. He says when he first reached Texas there was so much grass it never occurred to anyone that it could ever be exhausted. Of course there was no such thing as a pasture, everything being free range and with so few settlers that every body had a chance to raise a bunch of cattle. During those early days freighting was done from Shreveport, Louisiana, and Jefferson, Tex., these being steamboat points. It was many years before the railroad made its appearance in his part of the state.

Mr. Hill has witnessed and participated in the making of most of the nation's history. Andrew Jackson was president when he was born. The Mexican war ended the year before he went to Texas, resulting in the acquisition of a large area of new territory by the United States. The gold rush to California began the year he went to Texas.

Has Seen Four Wars. Texas had been a state only four years when he became a citizen. He has seen four of the six great wars that the United States has been involved in. He has seen Texas grow from a broad expanse of wilderness inhabited by fewer than 100,000 people to the Empire state of 5,000,000. He has seen the Indian Territory transformed into its present position.

The first railroad in the United States was built only three years before he was born and during his lifetime the telegraph, telephone, radio, electric light and hundreds of other inventions have been perfected and put into daily use. Few, indeed, have been permitted to witness such a long period of advancement in the human race as has Mr. Hill. He has come down to us from a generation of stout hearted pioneers who blazed the way for civilization and cleared the wilderness for habitation by others who waited until the pioneers had done their work and made the way easier for later comers.

TORRENT WASHES RAILS AWAY AND CARS PLUNGE INTO WRECKAGE OF TIES

MUSKOGEE, May 22.—William Harshfield, engineer, and Gilbert Daugherty, fireman, of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 3, southbound were killed when the train was wrecked shortly before 11 o'clock last night when a cloud burst swept the engine from the track four miles south of Vinita. The train was due to arrive in Muskogee at 11 o'clock. Both the dead men are residents of Parsons, Kansas.

According to statements of Katy officials in Muskogee this morning the two members of the train crew were the only persons killed as the engine turned completely over and rolled into a ditch.

7 RAIL LEADERS OPEN WORK UPON RATE ADJUSTMENT

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 22.—Seven railroad executives representing the group of 19 which participated in the white house dinner conference Saturday night at which President Harding asked voluntary action in certain rate reductions, today held a two hour session with the members of the interstate commerce commission.

According to the formal announcement of the conference as made by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, one of the conferees, merely said the meeting was "for the purpose of discussing the rate situation." The session generally was regarded as the first step by railroads towards possible compliance with the president's request and towards carrying out the agreement made at the white house conference.

OPENING BLAST IN JUDGE RACE FIRED SATURDAY

The first guns of the primary campaign in Pontotoc county were fired Saturday afternoon by Judge J. W. Bolen, J. H. Mathers of Ardmore, former county attorney of Carter county, and Robert Wimble, chairman of the Democratic central committee of Pontotoc county.

Judge Bolen defended his record on the bench and vigorously attacked the opposition and the K. K. Klan. He was followed by James Mathers, who is a prospective candidate for attorney general, who also played the Ku Klux. He occupied only a short time with his speech.

At the close of Judge Bolen's speech Robert Wimble announced that he was going to speak on the Guaranty bank corner and a large part of the crowd followed him. His speech was a stinging attack on Judge Bolen's record.

The speaking had been well advertised and a large crowd was present made up of citizen from both the country and the town.

100 ARE DROWNED AS STEAMER GOES DOWN OFF FRANCE

Two American Missionaries Lose Lives in Water, Report Declares.

MANY JUMP INTO SEA

Two Ships Crash Together As Fog Horns Scream Vain Warning.

BREST, France, May 22.—Mrs. M. L. Sibley and Miss V. M. Boyer, American missionaries on their way to India, were said today by R. F. Bevan, the only other American passenger, to have been drowned in the wreck of the British Steamship Egypt which was sunk off the island of Ushant Saturday night by a collision with the French steamer Seine. Nearly 100 other passengers lost their lives in the disaster.

Ninety-eight missing. BREST, May 22.—Ninety-eight persons are missing and 242 were saved of those who were on board the British steamship Egypt when it was sunk off the island of Ushant Saturday night following a collision with the French steamship Seine according to the latest official figures.

Among those missing are two American women, Mrs. M. L. Sibley and Miss V. M. Boyer, whose home addresses are unknown here. It is possible that some of the missing may have been picked up by the steamship Tropic of Capricorn, in addition to those brought here by the Seine. The Capricorn was nine miles from the scene of the reported disaster and signaled with the assurance that she was heading toward the scene.

According to the Egypt's purser, the ship floated only 20 minutes after her plates had been crushed in by the Seine. The Egypt, he declared, was not moving at the time of the accident, lying to on account of the dense fog and sounding her siren continuously.

All Jump from Ship. Suddenly there came the warning shriek of the siren of the Seine and the latter loomed up out of the fog and darkness and struck the Egypt amidship. With the crash there came a terrible confusion on the stricken vessel. Four or five boats were all that could be lowered, because of the list of the ship, and many persons jumped overboard fearing to be dragged down with

Sheriff Seeks Order To Restrain Selling of Alleged Wet Car

Petition for an order restraining O. D. McKinney and others from selling an automobile involved in the case of the state against George Rowe, alleged grand larceny, was filed in the district court Saturday by County Sheriff Bob Duncan.

Rowe's preliminary is scheduled for June 5 before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown. A suit in replevin has been filed by McKinney to secure possession of the car, Duncan's petition declares. The sheriff is seeking to hold it until after Rowe's preliminary.

Another action recently started in Pontotoc county district court is B. M. Green vs. Kansas, Oklahoma and Gul railway, seeking $10,000 damages. Green alleges that on February 25, 1922, he boarded a K. O. & G. freight train at Tupelo, with a ticket to Allen. Company employees, he asserts, told him the train took passengers. He alleges that he was forced by the conductor to leave the train while it was in motion and that he sustained injuries which impaired his health.

LABOR WILL SEEK TO TAKE 'LEADER' UNDER ITS WING

(By the Associated Press) MUSKOGEE, May 22.—"We're going to ask labor organizations of this state to pay off the bond obligation of the Oklahoma Leader (socialist newspaper published in Oklahoma City) held by the Socialist Democratic Publishing company of Milwaukee, Wis., and by the Illinois miners and we're going to put control of that publication in the hands of labor men of this state."

This statement was made this morning at the special convention of the U. M. W. of A. which is on its second week of session here, by Love Grant of Ft. Smith, Ark., attorney for district No. 21, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas. It furnished to the delegates the first intimation of what is the plan of John Wilkinson, president and other officers of the association in filing suit for receivership against the Leader.

Journalism Faculty Member at Oklahoma Dies Suddenly Today

(By the Associated Press) NORMAN, May 22.—Russell Monroe, 44, assistant professor of journalism at the University of Oklahoma, and a pioneer Oklahoma City newspaper man, died suddenly at his home here today from heart disease. He was assistant publisher at the University of Missouri for some time. His body will be sent to Tip-ton, Mo., the home of his father.

A compilation of the last census figures show that 50.3 per cent of the entire population, 10 years of age or over, were engaged in some gainful occupation.

Seven passenger coaches were derailed but none of the passengers were injured, it was reported.

Train Running Late. The train was running late due to the condition of the track, which was made soft by heavy rains. It was "feeling its way" along south of Vinita when the cloud burst sent the water down the hill side, tearing the track from the embankment and giving the engine crew no time to stop the train before it rolled into the wreckage of rails and plunged into the ditch.

A special train with a wrecking crew, Katy officials and physicians left Muskogee for the scene of the wreck to bring to Muskogee all passengers. The special train is due to arrive in Muskogee this afternoon where arrangements will be made for sending the travelers on to their destinations.

Worst Accident in Years. Complete details of the wreck were not available and officials here were awaiting the arrival of a special train to learn definite facts or what appears to be the worst accident on the road in this part of the country for a long time.

Harshfield and Daugherty were buried beneath their engine as it left the rails and turned over into a ditch. Their bodies were taken to Vinita. Both men were married. The engineer was the father of nine children, the fireman leaves two children.

The rainfall at Vinita from 8 o'clock until midnight was 4.22 inches. Water was standing over the rails when the wreck occurred. Following the disaster, another cloud-burst occurred, making it impossible to afford relief work until the storm abated. This storm washed away 1,500 feet of track before and behind the wrecked train.

Two express cars and a baggage car also went into the ditch. An express messenger was injured. His identity is not known.

In the vicinity of Vinita, the Frisco railroad had considerable track washed away in the storm.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY

RICHES DO NOT SATISFY.—He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase; this is also vanity. When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good is there to the owners thereof, saving the beholding of them with their eyes?—Ecclesiastes 5: 10, 11.

THE COTTON SITUATION

The government report indicates that during April more cotton was consumed than during the corresponding month of 1921 and also that exports were nearly double those for April, 1921. Every foreign country, except Japan, bought more than a year ago. Exports for the nine months period of the cotton year were 750,000 more than for the corresponding period of the previous year. Home consumption was about 900,000 bales more. Stocks held by consuming establishments and warehouses were around 2,000,000 bales less than at the same time in 1921. However, these report more than 4,600,000 on hand, which will probably be ample until the next crop comes in. The carry over will be much less than it was last year and the price this year will depend largely on the size of the crop. The world needs cotton but has been too poor to buy all it needed. In view of the fact that exports picked up greatly in April after lagging behind for two or three months, it appears that the foreign countries are getting in better shape. The News has no advice to offer one way or the other in regard to the increasing or decreasing the acreage in Pontotoc county. However, experience proves that a small crop usually brings more than a large one.

NEWSPAPER POLICY.

It is sometimes hard for people to understand that there is a wide difference in the purposes of the news and editorial columns of a real newspaper. A case in point came under our observance a few days ago in the form of a criticism some man published about the Dallas News. He was surprised that although the News has fought the Ku Klux Klan in its editorial columns, it has published many columns of news concerning the activities of the organization, some favorable and some otherwise, and he ascribed the growth of the order in no small degree to this publicity. If the critic had stopped to think about it he would have remembered that although the Dallas News fought Bailey, Jim Ferguson and others, tooth and toe nail it always carried their speeches, often going to the expense of sending a staff correspondent hundreds of miles to get a verbatim report. Often these men assailed the News in bitter terms and this was published too. Of course the Dallas News is not alone in this policy; it is the one followed by all reputable papers in handling all classes of news. No matter what the editorial opinions of the editors may be the news columns aim to give the facts and hew to the line of truth.

It is gratifying to learn that the railroads have granted the Confederate veterans a rate of one cent per mile to Richmond reunion. Only a remnant of the followers of the stars and bars now live and many of these would not be able to attend the reunion if full fare should be demanded. These men gave the part of their lives to the service of their country and many were too badly handicapped to accumulate much of this world's goods. They deserve the best the country can give them and it is indeed commendable in the management of the railroads to grant this courtesy.

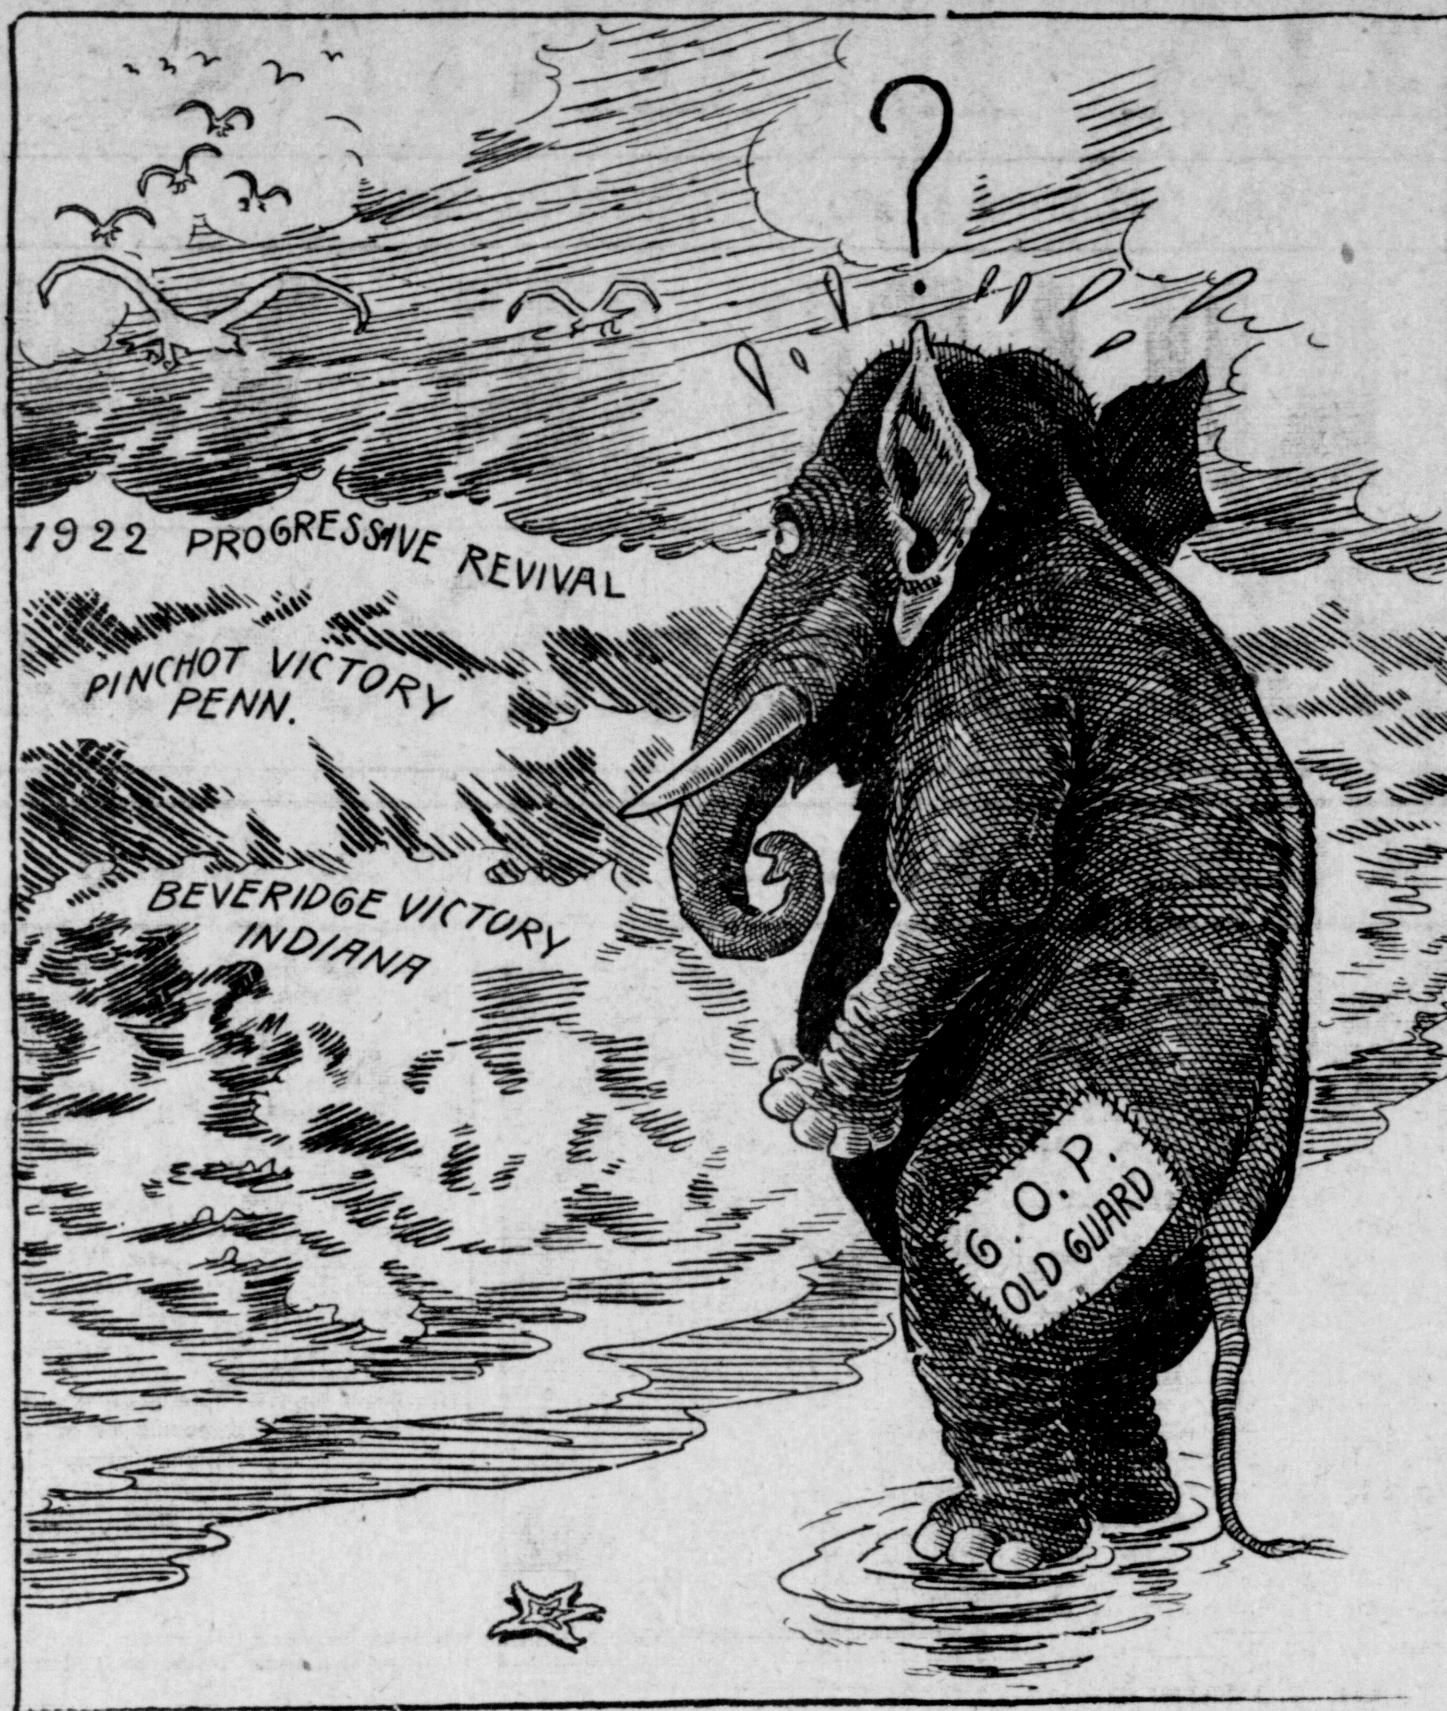

The Purcell Register declares that Purcell is now on the way to better things and has an active Chamber of Commerce to push the interests of the town. Good for Purcell. We always like to hear things like this about our neighbors. The citizens are showing good judgment in organizing a Chamber of Commerce. Ada has accomplished a great deal through a similar organization and Purcell can do likewise. Silence the knockers and drive out the loafers and a good start can be made from the jump.

We have always advocated the planting of shade trees along the city streets and Ada is now measuring up to our ideas in that respect. The best view to be had of the city is from the cemetery hill northwest of the business section. A few years ago one saw only bare looking roofs and walls, but now the city has the appearance of being located in the midst of a grove, which we think is a great advance.

A scientist of note predicts that before many years physical labor will be largely eliminated by machinery and electricity. He says that inventions will make it possible to do everything by mechanical means except think. That is very pretty but under such a regime men would soon become so lazy that they would not even have the energy to press the button that started the fire and cooked breakfast while they took another snooze.

The Fort Worth Record devotes half a page of large type extolling the greatness of Western Texas. Well, perhaps the intentions of the Record are all right, but having lived, or rather existed, in parts of Western Texas a number of years ago, Oklahoma is good enough for us. Too many drouths out there to suit us.

WHAT THE POLITICAL WILD WAVES ARE SAYING

The Forum of the Press

Time for an Accounting.
(McAlester News-Capital)

The people have a right to know where men asking favors from them stand on certain public questions. Too often they never are given information merely because they fail to ask. The issues in the present campaign are too vital for laxity on the part of the people and the press. Every candidate for office should be immediately interrogated in the interests of the public.

A number of men have been indorsed for state office by a hybrid organization known as the Farmer-Labor Reconstruction league, which met early in the spring at Shawnee. The things that this league did seem innocent. It is only when the intent of the men backing it is examined that the diabolical delivery of the plan is apparent.

The head of the ticket indorsed by this league has not said where he stands. He has accepted the indorsement of the league. But does he expect the people to sit passively on the sidelines without finding out whether or not he indorses the league? Most certainly not. It is reported that the man who heads the non-partisan ticket made the remark as he went into the convention to deliver his speech that he has been prepared for him some time in advance.

"I have not read the platform but I am strong for it."

Thus spoke the opportunist, the man eager to seize any opportunity offered him regardless of the welfare of the state.

But a man who will accept in such spirit cannot dodge the responsibility of stating his position by sidestepping with a statement that he is running on a democratic platform. It is clear that he is doing nothing of the kind. He is seeking office on a platform written by malcontents at Shawnee who had failed in their efforts to put the Townley non-partisan league over in Oklahoma by other methods.

Briefly stated the people of Oklahoma want to know whether or not the head of the non-partisan ticket if chosen governor will recommend to the first legislature, then convened after the first of next year, the execution of the promises made in the Shawnee platform.

There should be no sidestepping, no begging the question. This ticket has the indorsement of the reconstruction league. Are the men on the ticket double crossing the men who indorsed them or are they deceiving the public. The statement that they are seeking office on a democratic platform cannot be reconciled with the fact that they are accepting the support of the malcontents, radicals and negroes who wrote the Shawnee platform.

Will these men who are seeking office, if elected, carry out the plan that has been enunciated at Shawnee calling for a state bank similar to the one that failed in North Dakota? Will they provide a state warehouse, elevator and marketing system such as that through which the citizens of North Dakota were bilked of millions of dollars?

There are seventeen state planks in the Shawnee reconstruction league platform. Most of them are innocent and time worn. Most of them have been adopted by at least three parties at some period in history. But hidden away in an innocent mass of verbiage in concealed the menace of paternalism in the state. In one reach the farmer-laborer reconstruction league platform condemns state institutions for failure. In the next breath a demand for creation of more institutions is made.

Here is an example of innocuous things that appear in the platform:

CHINA'S DICTATOR ASKS AGED CHIEF TO HEAD CABINET

Gen. Wu Pei-Fu, whose military victory over Gen. Chang Tso-Lin has made him the virtual dictator of China, has asked Gen. Wong Shi-Chang to head the new government as premier. Wong probably will form the new cabinet.

"We favor impartial enforcement of all laws."

Nothing vicious in that. We all approve this ideal of justice and not a candidate for any office on any ticket can be found who believes in anything else.

"The establishment of mills and elevators, warehouses and the like."

"To establish a state bank which shall be the depository of the funds of the state and its subdivisions."

These are the things that made of North Dakota a financial Sahara, that brought about a virtual state of bankruptcy in the state and caused a revulsion of feeling that swept the non-partisan office holders out of office.

Parliament Chief Slain in Belfast Disorders Today

BELFAST, May 23.—The killing today of W. J. Twaddell, a member of the Ulster parliament who was shot while on his way to Sunday services, caused the issuance of a manifesto by Sir James Craig, the premier, who announced that a special meeting of the cabinet and the legal authorities would be held immediately. The premier declared that "just retribution" was called for.

Mr. Twaddell is the first member of parliament to be attacked in the history of Belfast's disorders.

From the Emporia Gazette—
Four Emporia co-eds hiked into the country Saturday evening. They wanted to go to Flat Rocks but didn't know the way, so they stopped a deaf farmer coming to town and asked him—

"How do you get to Flat Rocks?"
"Did you say have I got a box?" bellowed the farmer with his hands to his ear.

"No, no," the co-eds answered.
"How do you get to Flat Rocks?"
"No, I don't approve of rolled socks. My daughter wants to wear 'em but I won't let her."

The situation was becoming embarrassing.

"But we want to get to Flat Rocks," yelled the women, forgetting their dignity.

"No, by gum, I didn't vote for Cox," exploded the farmer. "I'm a Republican and any time you hear of me voting the Demo—"

The women didn't wait for the rest, but fled toward the Cottonwood to hunt Flat Rocks for themselves.

Frank Irving Fletcher, New York advertising man, said in an address to advertisers:

"Another fault that is fast disappearing is exaggeration—in, you know. Some of the advertisements of the past remind me of a dialogue between a salesman and a patron. It runs like this:

"What's the price of the article?"
"One dollar, sir."

"Bought direct from the manufacturer, I presume?"

"No, sir, we got it at a sheriff's sale of the manufacturer's stock."

"Why did the manufacturer bust up?"

"Through selling this article at a dead loss."

"I suppose he'd paid too much for the raw material, eh?"

"Oh, no he stole the raw material."

"Gee whiz! Wrap me up half a dozen."—Los Angeles Times.

DUNCAN—The Lions club has started a movement for building a $100,000 auditorium or convention hall in Duncan. It is understood the proposition will be put before the people as soon as the plans have been definitely worked out.

YANKSEY SAYS HE HASN'T ANY FAVOR TO ASK

Railroad Conductor In Strong Statement Declares Tanlac Has Completely Restored Him and His Little Son To The Best Of Health.

"In making this statement I haven't any axe to grind or favors to ask," said A. F. Yanksey, 1022 South 18th st., St. Louis, Mo., well-known conductor on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, in telling his experience with Tanlac.

"For years I had been just about half sick, and my appetite went back on me, my stomach being so out of order that no food agreed with me. Gas kept me in misery for hours, my nerves were all undone and my sleep was so restless I always dreaded to go out on my run. I was so played out.

"I have taken two bottles of Tanlac and have actually gained ten pounds. I can eat and digest anything, and sleep well. My little 8-year-old son has been helped by Tanlac too. He was weak and puny but is now full of energy. Tanlac is certainly a world beater."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

With the Women of Today

By EDITH MORIARTY

The state industrial school for women prisoners in Kansas has, after a six years' trial of the honor system method, announced it a success. Julia B. Perry, superintendent of the school, says that humane treatment of her prisoners and a system of reforming, not punishing, is what makes it possible for her to leave locks and bars from the doors of the industrial farm.

"There are no bars or locks on most of the rooms," she explains, "and even women in for life sleep in quarters which are unbarred. This tends to make them forget prison and try to make good."

In 1916 owing to the crowded condition at the Kansas State prison the only reasonable solution to the problem was to place seventeen women prisoners in a rambling old farm house one mile distant from the prison proper. In the six years since the industrial farm for women criminals was started, 2,000 women and girl prisoners have received its fostering care.

At first it was thought necessary to place a high barbed wire fence around the farm with only a large farm gate that was to be locked and bolted. Miss Perry was not used to being locked up with stone walls, prison bars and Yale locks and so she had them removed. With the removal of the bars prison life seemed to pass away and farm life occupied the women who seemed to be trying harder to make good.

The population at the farm today according to superintendent Perry is 140 inmates, twelve matrons, one physician, two nurses, one record clerk, one chief clerk, one steward, and two chaplains. Vocational training work is so mapped out that every occupant is the home is kept busy.

MOST LIBRARIES FOUNDED BY WOMEN

It has been estimated that women through organized efforts have been founders of most public libraries. Eighty per cent of all the public libraries in New York state were started and fostered by women's clubs, it was brought out in a recent survey.

In Oklahoma all but eight libraries in the state owe their existence to club women.

DEAN OF WOMEN DEFENDS FLAPS

Dean Mary Yost of Stanford University.

(By Central Press) STANFORD, May 22.—Ear puffs and short skirts or long dresses and high collars so tight around the neck that the eyes bulge? Cocksureness or demureness? Self-reliance or no sense or responsibility?

In other words, flapper, or not a flapper?

Which attributes would you select for the modern girl? Dean Mary Yost of Stanford University, Cal., chooses the modern version of the girl. She chooses on the basis of long experience with girls at Vassar University of Michigan and Stanford. She's not a bit disheartened because her 500 girls at Stanford—as the other thousands of college girls—are unlike the girls of twenty-years ago, are "less open to guidance."

"Her safeguard," says Miss Yost, "is her honesty and her growing sense of individual and group responsibility. Much of the adverse criticism by wise elders grows out of convenient memory. We judge the 1922 girl to be silly because of her ear puffs and forget that the pompadour of 1900 rose at least six inches above our own foreheads."

"Eyebrows may be elevated at the shortness of the modern skirt, but at least it is more hygienic than the one which swept the ground and carried the dust of the street into the home. If we consider invidious silliness of dress, nothing today is as bad as the high collar we wore with the ribbon drawn so tight our eyeballs bulged."

"Modern girl is not an easy problem to solve, but she will carry our work further than we have been able to carry it."

Yellow Voile and Lace With Hand Embroidery

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

GEORGETTE surely has a close rival in voile, especially for summer wear, and the sheer qualities of voile are always a delight when daintily and attractively made.

A voile dress should never be stunted in material, because it takes on a stung look that can never be overcome by any amount of trimming. Lace used with it must blend both in texture and in color, and tucks, like embroidery, must be as dainty as needle skill can make them.

The panel effect of the skirt makes it unusually attractive and is such that it may be used effectively with another type of blouse. This blouse, however, has much in its favor. The tucks on the shoulder give desirable fullness. The youthfulness of the sleeves and neck line adds much to the summeriness of the frock itself.

The Secretary-Cook

By MARVIN ST. JOHNS

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

"WANTED—A capable young woman to act as private secretary to the head of a large corporation. Apply, stating qualifications and experience, to A. C., box 220."

Sylvia read the advertisement hopefully. She was a young woman—twenty-five is young; she was capable, and for four years she had been private secretary to Henry Cowle, head of the Lighting Investment company. But Sylvia was more than capable—she was pretty and charming, too, and young Harry Cowle, had taken an amazing liking to the details of office duty in his father's corporation ever since he came home from college and saw her.

The young people were not exactly engaged, but Sylvia was just as fond of Harry as he was of her. And so matters drifted until Henry Cowle intervened.

"Harry," he said, "I've decided to put you in charge of our Portland branch. You can start west tomorrow. I want to build it up and shall expect you to stick to your desk there for at least two years."

That was how the quarrel began. Harry announced that, if he went, he would take Miss Sylvia Latham with him as his bride. Henry Cowle rejoined that in that event he could resign his position and take twenty-five cents for a wedding gift. In the middle of the discussion Sylvia entered, but the discussion had grown so heated that it did not stop. Sylvia understood its purport at once, turned, walked out, and never went back.

That was how she came to leave Henry Cowle. And now she wondered whether it would be necessary to mention him as a reference.

She answered the advertisement, and on the following day received a letter asking her to call at a house in the suburbs. Sylvia went.

A pleasant-looking woman met her at the door.

"Can you cook a good plain dinner?" Mrs. Chambers asked.

"I suppose I could," said Sylvia, smiling.

"I did not know I was to live here," she said. "Does Mr. Chambers want me to go to town with him every morning?"

Mrs. Chambers stared at her, then laughed.

"Not if I know it," she answered. "You are a queer girl. Now come along and let us get the mutton into the oven. Alphonse is bringing a friend home with him. That is what he is always doing, and without the slightest warning. Well, I guess we have enough food in the house, but I don't know what I should have done without you."

Three-quarters of an hour later the dinner was done, and almost simultaneously there came a ring at the front door.

"There's Alphonse," said Mrs. Chambers. "I suppose he has left his key at the office again. Really, men are very trying!"

Then a new thought came to Sylvia. Mrs. Chambers was, perhaps, of a jealous nature. Perhaps that was why Mr. Chambers had left her to select the secretary.

Five minutes precisely after Mrs. Chambers had departed Sylvia, carrying a tray loaded with dishes, plates and a large platter on which the leg of mutton reposed in a pond of gravy, made her appearance in the dining room. Then she perceived, seated at the table, Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, and—Harry Cowle.

"Sylvia," he cried triumphantly.

"Harry!" shouted Mr. Chambers. "What is the matter? Have you gone crazy?"

"No," answered Harry, "not now. I have been insane, almost, trying to locate Miss Latham, since she ran away from us three weeks ago. I had a decoy advertisement in the Sunday papers, for a secretary, but not a single answer rewarded my efforts. Sylvia, dearest, look at me! It's all right now. Father says he wants you as much as I do. Yes, Mrs. Chambers, of course, I have met Sylvia before. Why—see here, Alphonse, Miss Latham and I have been engaged for months."

"Well, you certainly will enjoy your meals if you marry a cook," said Mrs. Chambers wistfully.

"Cook? She's a splendid cook," said Harry. "That is—eh? What do you mean by that, Mrs. Chambers? Sylvia isn't a cook. Sylvia, dearest, you aren't a cook are you?"

"I thought I was a private secretary," said Sylvia, in tears. "But it seems that I'm a cook now. Oh, let me go, Harry!"

"Didn't you answer my advertisement for a cook?" demanded Mrs. Chambers of the girl. But before Sylvia could reply Alphonse Chambers brought his fist down with a jar that set the glasses dancing upon the table.

"I see it now!" he yelled. "Harry, they must have mixed the advertisements at the newspaper office!"

Mrs. Chambers got up from the table, walked to Sylvia, and drew her into her arms.

"I'm sorry, my dear," she whispered, caressing her. "I think you will make a splendid wife for Harry. Come and sit down and we'll forget this little misunderstanding."

"Uh!" munched Mr. Chambers. "From the taste of this mutton I feel rather sorry it was a misunderstanding."

BOSTON, May 22.—Mrs. M. L. Sibley and Miss V. M. Boyer, the American women who are missing from the British steamship Egypt which was sunk off the coast of France, Saturday night, were missionaries bound for India who had been in this city recently. Mrs. Sibley, a member of the staff of the American Board of commissioners for foreign missions, has relatives living in Toledo, Ohio. Miss Boyer, who formerly made her home at Aspinwall, Pa., was going out as a teacher in the school for missionaries, children and others in southern India.

Mrs. Sibley was a widow somewhat beyond the middle years, returning to her station in the City of Way. Miss Boyer with no parents or relatives living was taking up the work in mission fields for the first time.

CHICAGO WILL HAVE OUTDOOR SWIMMING COURSE IN COUNTRY

Windy City to Boost One of Best Aquatic Recreation
Spots in Nation

CHICAGO, May 22.—Plans are under way to give Chicago one of the greatest outdoor swimming courses in the country. Followers of aquatic sports, identified with the board which is drawing plans for the great athletic stadium to be built at Grant Park on the lake front, are confident that when stadium plans are finished the swimming course will be included.

Chicago, with Lake Michigan washing its shores, and hundreds of natatoriums and swimming pools, is regarded as the swimming center of the country, as far as the number of champions is concerned. However, the facilities for record performances are limited, and star swimmers from this city have journeyed to other waters to establish some of their high marks.

Lake Michigan affords plenty of space for swimming during the summer months and the beaches are always well patronized, but these conditions are not sufficient or satisfactory for swimming races. These beaches, in most instances, are protected by breakers, but seldom does the water remain smooth for any length of time. The waters often get choppy and as a result meets scheduled for the open water are either called off or if held, seldom are productive of new records.

Use Chicago River.

The Chicago River has been used yearly for the holding of swimming events. Most of these events, however, are held downstream. However, it is not permissible for swimming events to be held, the bridges crossing the water and the docks all along the course swarm with spectators. At Lincoln Park, along the north shore of Lake Michigan, is a large lagoon which is often used for sculling.

With the acquisition of the swimming pool in connection with the Lake Front stadium, it is planned to have a seating arrangement to take care of thousands who can watch every move of the men in the water from a place of vantage.

Those who are fostering the plans for this pool expect to have it built of cement. It is to be 100 yards in length with a 50 foot lane of deep water running the entire length. Diving towers, with springboards and high diving platforms at the proper heights will be arranged on one side of the pool, and the racing course will be laid out here. On the other side of the course, the water will be shallow, so that those who are timid or not so expert in swimming may paddle about to their heart's content.

A Dress That Suggests Graceful Slenderness

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

EVERY woman of generous proportions seems to experience a period when she would make tremendous sacrifices for slenderness; then, just as surely, there will come a time when she realizes that health and happiness are more desirable than willowness. Her pride, however, never permits her to settle into a state of heaviness, even if she must admit to a robustness that is quite genuine.

Stouts, as they are often pictured, are not pleasing, and a self-respecting woman will not admit herself into such a class.

Long lines are essential. A soft, graceful fabric with enough weight in itself not to be in the least flimsy is always desirable. Sleeves, as evidenced here, should never be conspicuously decorated. A simple, unadorned neck line is, in many instances, to be preferred, for if the neck is not wrinkled with flesh, it usually is attractive. If it is wrinkled, then a collar line would make it seem crowded and overdressed. So simplicity is in both instances the safest.

The dress illustrated is navy marquisette over navy and white foulard. Black silk braid emphasizes the panels, and black leather flowers at the waist line give a definite newness that is entirely desirable.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to all those who were so kind and attentive to the family and friends of Amos Hays during the recent fatal illness and burial. These kind deeds will always be remembered.

MRS. BETTIE HAYS and Family, BILL HAYS and Family.

By NORMAN E. BROWN Understudy to Cobb.

That is the berth of Johnny Mohardt, former Notre Dame athletic star, is said to have drawn with the Detroit Tigers.

Farmed out to Denver this spring after a tryout under Tyrus Raymond, the grid and baseball star, has been recalled by the Tigers. And the tip comes that Cobb believes the collegian will be ready to play center field in brilliant style whenever the Georgian decides he himself is through there.

Mohardt has the qualification of a brilliant outfielder. He has a strong and true whip, plenty of speed, quick brain and fielding ability. Three years with the fast Notre Dame team gave him considerable experience in centerfield.

He wound up his college athletic career last fall in a blaze of glory, proving one of the most brilliant backfield men on the grid in a decade. He won football, baseball and track letters when he laid aside his college togs.

Mohardt won his first nation-wide notice in the 1920 football season when, against West Point, he converted the great play of George Gipp, wonder athlete whose career was cut short by death due to a grid injury.

Last winter big league scouts began bidding for Mohardt's services. Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburg and the Tigers, the Cubs and the Cards all sought him but the Tigers won out.

He has Cobb's promise that he can leave the game early next fall long enough to complete his studies as a surgeon, which will finish his college course.

MUSKOGEE SWAMPED BY ADA SUNDAY IN DELUGE OF HITTING

Fans Watch Visitors Mown
Down by Superior Work
Of Independents

Baseball fans were keenly disappointed Sunday afternoon with the exhibition of baseball playing the Muskogee amateur team, "as good as any Class D league team," give against the Ada Independents. Greene's men won by a score of 13 to 2.

About the only advantage that can be derived from the game was a chance for some of the Ada players to fatten their batting average. Paul Waner, Ada moundman, never was forced to go his limit. The visitors got six small bingles.

P. Waner hit a nice home in the fifth, and West and R. Waner drew triples, backed by a couple of singles each. Frisco Vernon made a safe hit behind first, and trotted around when the right fielder failed to find the ball. He scored Rutledge.

Manager Greene stated that when he booked the Muskogee he promised on several different occasions by the manager that a good team would be brought to the city. More care will be used in selecting the team for next Sunday's playing, the local manager said today.

Only once the visitors made things lively. In the third, by bunching three singles, they put two men across the plate. Eight runs were made by Ada in the fifth before the visitors could rally enough to stem the tide. Harris, the pitcher who relieved Parrish, managed to hold Ada to one run during the remainder of the game.

Summary: Runs—Harrison 2, R. Waner 3, P. Waner 2, Rutledge 1, Vernon 2, Norman 1, West 1, Parrish 1, Walsh 1, Fain 1. Earned runs—Muskogee 2, Ada 9. Bases stolen—Vernon 2, P. Waner, West, Milton. SWIMMING TO BE TAUGHT BOYS AT MUSKOGEE TODAY

(By the Associated Press)
MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 27.—Muskogee boys who don't know what it means to steal off to a cool pool under a shady tree and temper the warmth of summer with a plunge—because they don't know how to swim—are to have a chance to learn. The Muskogee Y. M. C. A. will start today its free swimming campaign, open to all boys 11 years of age or over.

In ten lessons, the boys, who have enrolled by the hundreds, will be taught the strokes which propel their bodies through the water. Later in the summer, free courses of instruction will be held for the grown-ups.

Swimming, because it is an all-around exercise, will develop the body symmetrically, said G. W. Danielson, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., in pointing out the advantages that would result to the city's lads from a course in swimming. Self-confidence, control, character, sense of balance and safety are all developed by this form of effort, he added.

The course in swimming will be followed by a program of summer events. There will be a grade swimming test for all boys' classes classified into three groups and on the basis of 100 percent in each group, Mr. Danielson explained. International swimmers' buttons and certificates will be presented to all boys in each group who make a passing grade of 80 percent.

Asked what stroke he had found most successful in teaching the beginner to swim Mr. Danielson said the plain old dog paddle was the best suited to the majority of beginners. Occasionally, however, he said individuals will be found who will be unable to use the dog paddle but are best adapted to the crawl, breast stroke or overarm. The most efficient strokes, he said, are the crawl, the side, the back and the breast.

Aviators To Open Circus At Durant Monday Is Report

(By the Associated Press)

DURANT, May 22.—This city will assume the appearance of an army aviation field when fifteen army airplanes, manned by thirty aviators from Post Field, Fort Sill, land here this afternoon to prepare for the aerial circus Tuesday. The planes will arrive in battle formation, bombing the city with imitation bombs, and Tuesday morning will give flying exhibitions in squadron battle formations.

The Post Field aviators are coming here at the request of Brigadier General Chas. E. McPherron, commanding the 90th brigade, Oklahoma National Guard, which has its headquarters here. The three national guard companies here will also be reviewed by the commanding officer Tuesday morning.

While in Durant, the aviators will be entertained at a banquet and ball. Their planes will be guarded by the local national guard companies at the local country club golf links.

SENATORS IN CLASH OVER POMERENE'S MEASURE TO PREVENT ELECTION FRAUDS

(By Central Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—With a display of verbal pyrotechnics, flashing with personalities, the senate decided upon speedy action on the bill of Senator Atlee Pomerene, Ohio, to prevent corrupt practices in senatorial primaries and elections.

A clash between Senator Charles E. Townsend, Michigan, and Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, Tennessee, bitter in the extreme featured the debate on the measure.

McKellar intimated that the voters of Michigan could not be trusted to be honest and fair in elections. He charged Newberry had bought his seat.

Townsend warmly denied these charges. His denials were couched in strong terms.

McKellar responded by declaring Townsend's statements were "absolutely false" and "vile and untrue." The chair then ordered McKellar to his seat.

Pomerene's resolution provides that any successful candidate spending more than $10,000 in both primary and election campaigns be barred from the senate.

The bill was referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

ECONOMIST SEES PROGRESS AHEAD

Director of O. U. Business
School Says Revival
Is Due At Last

NORMAN.—For the first time since the financial crisis of 1920, Dr. A. B. Adams, director of the school of public and private business of the University of Oklahoma has sounded an optimistic note concerning the business outlook. For more than a year, Dr. Adams has been repeating that the period of depression was not over and that recovery was still in the future, but today he believes that business is on a sounder basis than it was at the height of prosperity in 1919. Dr. Adams was the economist in charge of investigation for the federal trade commission during the war.

"The business depression which started in 1920 is over," said Dr. Adams today, "and for several months we have been going thru the period of recovery. The great indebtedness which was accumulated during the period of prosperity by practically all business class has to a considerable extent been either liquidated or written off. There still are a few frozen loans outstanding that will not be liquidated for probably two or three years. This is particularly true with some of the agricultural paper which banks secured during the period of prosperity, but this class of paper is comparatively small and does not at present constitute a dangerous element in the banking world."

"The situation in the money market is now very bright indeed. Practically all banks have plenty of money or credit to lend up legitimate business undertakings and the federal reserve banks have liquidated their paper to such an extent that they now have a reserve of more than 76 percent behind the outstanding federal reserve notes and deposits. Consequently, the lending power of the federal reserve system is now sufficient to more than take care of all the legitimate business that can possibly be transacted in the United States."

Prices Look Upward.
Dr. Adams declared that prices in nearly all fields are looking upward and that the agricultural industry has seen its darkest day and is facing substantial prosperity. He said the surplus products on hand in the manufacturing field when the crisis came in the fall of 1920 have been absorbed, until at present there is an actual shortage in some lines.

In the belief of Dr. Adams, the present coal strike has not been an injury to business, but, on the contrary, "has stiffened the market for several classes of manufactured commodities, particularly mineral products."

Dr. Adams said conditions now prevailing in Europe as related to our foreign trade are of great significance to the United States. He explained that there must be real reconstruction in Europe before America's foreign trade will again be very profitable. He said these things must be accomplished in Europe to place those countries on a sound business basis: First, the elimination of the possibility of recurrence of war in the near future; second, balancing of the budgets of European governments by the reduction of public expenditures, which must be reduced by the cutting down of standing armies and by the separation of the government from private business; third, the placing of their depreciated currencies on a gold basis; fourth, securing of long-time loans, in America and elsewhere, to be used to buy the necessary capital equipment and raw materials so factories may be operated on a full-time basis; fifth, the German indemnity must be reduced and Germany given an opportunity to operate her industries at full capacity and trade with the world in order to pay France and Belgium for the destruction wrought during the war.

Outlook is Bright.
The business outlook for wholesale and retail merchants at present who characterized by Dr. Adams as "very bright indeed." He said that although wages had been materially decreased, the earning classes are more constantly employed than a few months ago and are demanding consumption of goods at a normal rate. Dr. Adams said he did not believe the country would have in the near future, a period of prosperity similar to that which followed the armistice, declaring that such a period would do more harm than good. "I do believe, however," he added "that business has now reached a point where it will go on a normal constructive basis."

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

Rube Geers of the Tishomingo Capitol-Democrat, says that when Jack Dempsey has met and whipped everything he runs across in Europe and returns to America, he wants him to meet Mrs. Rube. Evidently Rube's better half was not at home when the paper came off the press, or else Rube went off on a two-weeks fishing trip just before it reached the public.

Out at Snyder, Tex., the people wanted to build another room to their school house but lacked the money with which to do it. They announced a chicken and egg sale and asked every patron of the school to send in what they could spare. The result was enough money to build the room.

After being over a good part of the county I am convinced that the White Leghorn chicken is the most popular breed among people who are raising pure bred fowls. At least I have found many more of these than any other.

W. W. Norton is ahead of any other farmer in the county I have heard of in the matter of a cotton crop. While in town Saturday he stated that he has 20 acres already chopped out and seven hands working another 40 acres. He planted early and will try to make a crop before the weevils are thick enough to get it if they come again this year. Mr. Norton has been in this country since 1888 and says it is the best country on the map when averaged up with other sections.

Sudan Grass.
By W. J. Green
Extension Agronomist, A. and M. College.

Sudan grass is a feed crop that can be grown profitably in most parts of Oklahoma. It furnishes a good hay crop and provides excellent pasture.

It may be planted in rows or may be drilled or sown broadcast. In most cases, Sudan grass will make the most hay if planted in rows. For pasture, however, it is best to sow it with a wheat drill or broadcast.

Sudan grass may be planted any time after the danger of frost is past. Good results are obtained by seeding it about two weeks after corn planting time.

The rate of seeding varies with the amount of rainfall, from 15 pounds per acre in a dry section to 25 pounds in a humid region. A grain drill set to sow two pecks of wheat will sow about 20 to 25 pounds per acre in a dry section seeded in three-foot rows, from two to four pounds per acre will be about right.

Sudan grass has a place on every farm in Oklahoma that has any hogs or cattle. As a hog pasture it is hard to beat. It is also excellent for cattle. While the hay is by no means equal to alfalfa, it is much better than cane or kafir fodder. Sudan grass also makes excellent silage.

A day or two ago I noticed Rev. B. F. Stegall putting out some tomato plants that were fully a foot in height. He put these in deep holes so that only a small part of the plants came above the surface, completing the job by pouring in some water and packing the dirt well around them. He says that these large plants when put down deep in the ground are really the best of all. With such long stems they put out many roots and thrive accordingly. These plants bear in August and September and come along in time for late canning and table use.

J. C. Praytor, who lives a short distance from the city lake, says that on account of two months illness he will not be able to raise as much truck as usual this season, but he will have some 300 or 400 gallons of dewberries and black berries to sell. He also planted a bushel of English peas and will soon have a lot of them for market. He also has a good crop of fruit coming on.

for dressed poultry and the general prospects are for prices to rule around present levels, possibly a little lower.

Production of eggs is about normal for this time of the year, and as the consuming demand is lighter, there is a larger quantity going into storage, which has had a tendency to cause lower market values.

As the weather continues to grow warmer, the particular care should be given by producers to see that eggs are gathered daily, kept in cool places, and marketed several times each week.

The production of butterfat is about normal for this time of year, and as the consuming demand has been heavy, markets have shown some advance. However, as there will be a surplus from now on, which will move to storage, it is natural to look for lower values.
